DEAR FRIENDS AND FELLOW ALUMNI,

Well wishes from the School of Dental Medicine. As always, it is my great pleasure to present you with our annual honor roll of donors. I also want to extend my thanks to all of the people listed in the following pages for their thoughtfulness, forward thinking, and generosity.

The 2009-2010 fiscal years brought us changes and challenges, but we faced them with hard work, excellence, and high spirits. We have continued our efforts to develop the school's national and international visibility as an academic innovative leader in dental education. The coming years will bring new prospects for advancement and positive changes for our school. I look forward to meeting those opportunities head on with the help of our students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends.

I would like to thank you again for your continued involvement and for what we have achieved with your help. Every gift truly makes a difference.

Michael Fioritto D.D.S. '02, and Nicole Fioritto D.D.S. '05, both went straight into private practice following graduation. Michael's father, Henry (D.D.S. '60) and brother, Christopher, also work in the family dental practice in Mentor, Ohio. Michael completed a nine-month sedation residency at Miami Valley Hospital, and is in the process of earning a fellowship from the American Academy of Implant Dentistry.

"We both had some great experiences with instructors at the dental school who helped and mentored us throughout our years there. Those doctors could have been making more money in their own practices, but instead they were at the school, helping us grow and learn. The CWRU School of Dental Medicine is one of the finest in the country as far as gaining clinical experience, and our mentors helped us even beyond the classroom and the clinic. We wanted to help enable the school to continue to deliver that kind of experience to future generations of students."

Donald and Ruth Weber Goodman

Dean Jerold S. Goldberg, D.D.S. '70, says the endowment will allow the school to enhance its role as a leader in dental education and research. "With the support of donors such as the Goodmans, we are exposing our students to the best technologies and meaningful experiences — now and into the future," he says.

The late Donald Goodman, D.D.S. '45, and Ruth Weber Goodman, longtime supporters of the dental school and university, created The Donald J. and Ruth Weber Goodman Philanthropic Fund, which resides at the university and the Cleveland Foundation. It will be used to support education and research programs at the CWRU School of Dental Medicine and the School of Medicine.

Jack and Maryanne Beattie

Jack Beattie, D.D.S. M.S. '63, had memorable experiences at the CWRU School of Dental Medicine that stemmed from being selected as the research fellow in dental facial morphology and working with Drs. B. Holly Broadbent Senior and Junior at the Bolton Foundation. Thanks to Dr. Beattie's gift, the imaging center at the Bolton-Brush Growth Study Center will be known as the Broadbent Institute for Craniofacial Research.

"There are certain important people in my life, friends and mentors, who helped me find my pathway and my career, and I would feel remiss if I did not in some way acknowledge them. The impetus for me giving back to the university was to ensure that the names of Drs. B. Holly Broadbent Senior and Junior are forever remembered for the original research, and for the tremendous contributions they made to the university. Working with them was truly inspirational. It's a rarefied group of individuals at the CWRU School of Dental Medicine, who are truly concerned about research and education. I think the School of Dental Medicine is the ideal place to plant the flag of the Broadbent legacy for the university."

R. William and Chloe Cornell Jr.

“I feel it’s important to provide support for full-time faculty at dental schools—particularly at private schools. It can be very difficult to attract full-time faculty members because it’s tough to compete with the money dentists can make in private practice. That’s one reason Chloe and I wanted to support a faculty member. We want to enable the school to attract a person of quality to an area that’s very near and dear to my heart: pediatric dentistry.”

William Cornell Jr., D.D.S. '60, served as a volunteer instructor, a salaried clinical instructor, assistant clinical professor and acting co-chair of the Pediatric Dentistry Department, and director of the undergraduate dental program at the CWRU School of Dental Medicine. He and his wife, Chloe, endowed the first named professorship in the 118-year history of the School of Dental Medicine.

NATHAN B. DARROW SOCIETY MEMBERS

The society was established to recognize the many alumni and friends who have made provisions for the future success of Case Western Reserve University. Nathan B. Darrow was the first person to make a planned gift to the university when he bequeathed half his library through his will.

ALUMNI DONORS

Gifts from alumni, whether big or small, make a difference. Many philanthropic organizations look at the participation rate among alumni and friends when deciding to contribute to an institution. In addition, ranking institutions consider this rate as a measure of alumni satisfaction with the school. Our goal is to increase the participation rate. Your gift makes a significant impact.

Harlan Peterjohn, MD, '49, '53, a graduate of the Case Western Reserve School of Medicine, is retired from his pathology practice. Elizabeth Peterjohn, MA '67, attended the Parsons School of Design in New York City after her graduation from the School of Dental Medicine and spent her career in the fields of interior design and architecture.

“Betty’s father, Paul Sherwood, was an instructor at the School of Dental Medicine for many years. We wanted to do something in his memory and it was Betty who elected to start a fund in his name. The changes that are taking place in the field of dentistry are incredible, and you don’t stop learning when you get your degree. Students need to be flexible and committed to continuing to learn throughout their professional lives. It’s hard to keep up with things because they’re moving so fast, but it’s the best thing to do, both for the dentist and his or her patients. Our modest gift can be used to help a student who just earning his or her degree, or for someone who is coming back to the school to learn new skills, because it’s all necessary.”

Elizabeth and Harlan Peterjohn

After serving in the Navy, he returned to serve the Cleveland area at practices in South Euclid for 18 years and Beachwood for 21 years. Dr. Katz is president of the School of Dental Medicine's Alumni Association.

"I think it's very important to give back to the community, and I like to give back to areas in which I have been involved and that have helped me throughout my life. I feel very strongly about giving back to the CWRU School of Dental Medicine. My experiences here allowed me to learn about dentistry and become a professional. I think many people look for reasons not to give rather than reasons to give. They're not looking at the big picture and realizing how fortunate we are to be a part of such a great profession. Dentistry not only enables us to earn a good living, it allows us to help people in our communities, too. I think it's important to give back to the dental school so that other people can provide good care and ensure good dental health in the future."

WAYS TO GIVE

There are many ways to make a gift to benefit the Case Western Reserve University School of Dental Medicine. Most gifts provide donors with tax benefits. We would be pleased to discuss in more detail the various methods of giving that follow:

OUTRIGHT GIFTS

Cash

Gifts of cash make funds available for immediate use by the school.

Individual Retirement Account rollover provision

The IRA Charitable rollover provision has been reinstated for 2011. As such, donors aged 70 may make charitable gifts (up to $100,000) from their IRA accounts to Case Western Reserve, without counting the distribution as taxable income.

Securities

Gifts of long-term appreciated securities offer you the benefit of deducting the gift on the date of transfer to the Case Western Reserve University School of Dental Medicine to avoid capital gains tax on the appreciation of the stock.

Pledges

Pledges allow you to make a commitment to be paid over a period of time based on an agreed-upon schedule of payments. Pledges for the Annual Fund must be paid on or before June 30, to be counted for that particular fiscal year. Other pledges for support, such as endowment funds, can be made over a period of years.
