Oral surgery hospital rotation program for the senior dental student at Case school of dental Medicine.

Description:

The one week hospital oral surgery rotation program provides senior dental students with exposure to the scope and practice of oral and maxillofacial surgery in a hospital set up.

This one week program would be a demanding and time intensive period in a senior student's professional education, but one that serves as a building block for the acquisition of advanced knowledge in the field of oral surgery, regardless of a student's ultimate career goals.

The senior students will be supervised by the OMS faculty and residents at all times during the period of their rotation.

A group of 3 students will be assigned every week to the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Service and will make rounds, attend the educational programs, and assist in inpatient and outpatient care.

Specific Goals:

Students are expected to,

1. To learn the scope of OMS
2. To obtain experience in management of the hospitalized patient
3. To obtain experience in ambulatory dento-alveolar surgery
4. To obtain experience in the evaluation, diagnosis, and treatment planning of minor and major OMS diseases and conditions
5. To have the opportunity to evaluate the OMS residency program at Case school of dental medicine.
6. To learn and experience the protocols observed in the operating room.

Activity Outline:

- During the week long program, the senior students would be actively involved in the care of ambulatory and hospitalized patients under the direct supervision of faculty and OMS residents

- During this period the senior student will gain insight life of an OMS resident by attending morning hospital rounds, daily resident clinics, operating room cases, trauma call, and all educational activities. This experience will also provide the student with the opportunity to evaluate his/her own interest in the specialty of oral and maxillofacial surgery
- The senior students will have to take taking evening on-call at the hospital along with the oral surgery residents to allow familiarization with the operation of a major university hospital emergency suite.
- This rotation would give the senior student ample exposure to a variety of minor and major oral and maxillofacial surgical procedures that are performed in the operating room.
- In addition, the senior student is exposed to the practice of pain control, including outpatient general anesthesia as well as the techniques used for both conscious and deep sedation in the resident clinic.
- The senior student will also get to observe and participate in the departmental clinical pathology conferences, dento-facial deformity conferences, grand rounds lectures and journal club meetings.

Evaluation:

Students are evaluated on their understanding of the basic knowledge they gained and on their participation in scheduled activities during their rotation in oral and maxillofacial surgery.

Input is collected from faculty and Senior OMS residents

Working Hours during oral surgery rotation

Each group of students assigned for a particular week are expected to report to the oral surgery clinic every morning at 6.30 AM, Monday to Friday and participate actively in the hospital rounds and other departmental activities.

The students should work closely with the Chief oral surgery resident and coordinate their timings and participate in the oral surgery clinical activities.

The students will be allowed to take their time off during their lecture sessions every morning between 8 to 10 AM. After the lectures are over, the students are expected to join the oral surgery residents and participate in the oral surgery clinical activities.

The students are usually expected to work until 5.30 PM each day. However, this time may change and is related to many factors like, long surgical procedures (Increased operating time) in the operating room, new emergency patients etc., The students should be prepared for this increased working time period, before they join the oral surgery rotation.

During the weekends, the students are expected to participate in the on-call activities along with the oral surgery resident and make necessary on call trips to the emergency department along with the oral surgery resident.

Students who have religious commitments or some other form of important personal engagement in the weekend should obtain prior permission from the chief oral surgery resident before taking the time off.
